

Reigniting the Spirit of Caring (RSC) and Staff Nurse Satisfaction

When two groups of nurses within one institution were compared, the group that implemented Reigniting the Spirit of Caring was found to be more satisfied in all 13 of the aspects measured within the work environment. The graph above notes the six that were found to be statistically significant.

Research conducted by Nurse Environment, Inc.

Copyright, Creative Health Care Management, 2004